

INJUNCTION GRANTED TO BLOCK THE IMPROVEMENT WORK ON CENTER AVENUE

CITY OFFICIALS ENJOINED FROM CARRYING OUT PROPOSED WORK BY DECREE ISSUED AT INSTANCE OF FOR. MCR CITY ATTOR. NEY F. C. BUR- PEC.

GRADE OF THE STREET

Is Done of Contention Over Which Injunction Was Sought, Allegation Being Made That Present Grade Is Unlawful and Damages Plaintiff's Property.

Center Avenue is again the bone of contention for an injunction issued by Court Commissioner M. P. Richardson on the complaint of F. C. Burpee, former city attorney, who seeks to have the proposed resurfacing work on the street stopped. The injunction was served yesterday afternoon on Mayor John C. Nichols, City Clerk Roy M. Cummings, City Engineer C. V. Kerch and all the aldermen of the five wards of the city, they being enjoined from carrying out the plans for the proposed work. The date set for the hearing of the complaint to determine whether or not there is cause for the issuance of a permanent injunction is set for October 4, the same date as the hearing of the case last year when John J. Kelly enjoined the repair work on the street before Judge Gilman.

The Kelly case came up in 1910, an injunction being issued April 10. The complaint was made on the grounds that more than repair work was being done on the street. The decree of the court in this matter was that all money expended for repair work should be returned to the ward fund. In fact about $400 and the city officials were enjoined from paying out the rest of the $1,500 set aside for repairs on the street.

All Improvements Stopped. By the court injunction issued yesterday improvement work on Center Avenue for the full length of the street from Pleasant street to Riverside street is stopped until the case is settled in court or a permanent injunction against the proposed work is issued.

There has been more or less complaint about the condition of the street since the Kelly injunction was issued and the council sought in various ways to make the highway fit for use, as it certainly was in need of attention. It was thought that the maintenance of the street would be the main cause of the problem. It was at first thought to do the work and pay the cost from the ward fund, but it was found the expense would be too heavy, and the plan of paying part from the ward fund and assessing the rest of the cost against the property owners on the street was adopted.

Cause of Complaint. Mr. Burpee is the owner of lots 5, 6, 7 and 8 and twenty rods off the west end of lots 1, 2, 3 and 4 in block 4, of Palmer & Suteland's addition to the city of Janesville, the property being occupied by the Schaller & McKee Lumber Company. The street assessment committee, in going over the work proposed to be done on the street fixed the amount to be taxed against each piece of property and the amount placed against Mr. Burpee's property was $162.

A hearing was held by the committee before the resolution to assess the various amounts was passed by the council, and Mr. Burpee appeared before the committee to voice his objections, making the claim that his grade of the street was illegal, that his property would be damaged to the extent of about one thousand dollars, and the proposed work was done according to the present state of the street, and giving notice that he would take legal action to recover one thousand dollars damages from the city. He also appeared at the meeting when the resolution was passed to assess parts of the costs of the improvements against the property owners.

These same facts are set forth in the complaint on which the injunction was issued. It is claimed that the legal grade for the street was established July 3, 1877 and that grade is still the lawful grade for the street. Further the plaintiff claims that the surface of the street was raised in 1901 and he alleges that last summer the council sought to make it legal by establishing the grade in accordance with the level of the street instead of fixing the grade for the street and levelling it to the grade. He charges that in its present condition water flows from the street onto his property and that damages to the extent of about seven hundred dollars, the cost of repairs, has been caused.

What Is Motive? The motive for Mr. Burpee's action is not known, although several opinions have been voiced as to the matter by outsiders. Mr. Burpee was out of the city today and no statement from him regarding the matter could be secured.

Nichols' Statement. With regard to the city officials who implicated in the injunction, Mayor Nichols gave the following statement to the Gazette:

"Of course," said the mayor, "I am not in a position to state what are the merits of the case. That will largely have to be determined by the court when the case comes up for trial. The grade of the street was changed before I became mayor. However, I am told that if the old grade is re-established, Center Avenue near the Milwaukee street end will have to be lowered two or three feet and a portion of Milwaukee street will have to be lowered to conform with (Continued on page 2.)

WOODROW WILSON TO SPEAK AT MADISON AT CIVIC CONGRESS

First Conference on Civil and Social Development Will Be Held in State Capitol, Oct. 25th.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Madison, Wis., Sept. 21.—Gov. Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey will give the chief address at the opening of the first conference on civil and social development in Madison on Oct. 25. This conference is held under the auspices of the extension division of the University of Wisconsin in cooperation with the Social Center Association of America, and has as its object the promotion of the use of existing public property for civic, social and wholesome recreational activities. The important basis of the movement is the establishment of the New England town meeting idea, not once but fifty-two times a year in every community in America.

Civic Leaders Coming. Of this citizens' gathering for the development of an intelligent public spirit through the open presentation and free discussion of public questions in schoolhouses and other public buildings, Supreme Court Justice Charles E. Hughes when governor of New York said, "I am more interested in what you are doing and what it stands for than in anything else in the world. You are interesting the foundations of democracy."

The convention will bring together leaders in civic movements from points as far east as Boston and south as far as Texas, and will take up various special phases of the problem of social center development. The keynote, however, will be struck in the address of Gov. Wilson on "The Need of Fundamental Citizenship Organization."

University Supervision. The chairman of this opening meeting, which will be held in the university gymnasium on the night of Oct. 25, will be Dr. Louis E. Reber, dean of the extension division of the University of Wisconsin, which is the first department in any state university to establish a bureau of civil and social center development. Gov. Francis B. McGovern, who as a school principal became convinced of the desirability of the citizenship use of the schoolhouse, will give the address of welcome for the state. President Charles R. Van Hise of the university will give the welcoming address for that institution. Dr. Josiah Strong, author of "Our Country," founder of the American Institute for Social Service, and president of the Social Center Association of America, will give the response to these addresses. These addresses will mark the formal opening of the convention and make way for the speech of Gov. Wilson. This convention will not be a partisan gathering in any sense, and the meetings will be open to all men and women.

Freeman having raised the question whether the printing of the political pamphlets contemplated by the corrupt practices act will be required at the next primary and the next general election, Attorney General L. CALIFORNIA WOMEN MAKE HARD FIGHT TO SECURE BALLOT

For Second Time in History of State Woman Suffrage Question Will Be Voted Upon.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 21.—On October 10, only a trifle more than two weeks hence, the voters of California, for the second time in the history of the state, will decide by their vote whether women shall have the right to vote. The last time women's suffrage was submitted to the ballot in this state it was defeated by only 6,000 votes. Times have changed greatly since then and the advocates of women's rights are not only more hopeful of success than ever before but quite confident that California will win the honor of becoming the sixth state in the union to grant suffrage to women.

Never was a political campaign in this state fought with greater determination than the one now drawing to a close. The women of California realized the importance of a victory at this time and, inspired and encouraged by the success of the women in other western states, entered upon this campaign with tremendous energy and determination. When the legislature decided to submit a constitutional amendment, giving women the right to vote, to a referendum vote on October 10, it did not find the women of the state unprepared.

More than two years ago the first step was taken to prepare the women of California for just such an emergency. It was Mrs. Jas. Lees Laddow, chairman of the Women's Suffrage party of New York City, who by her individual efforts induced the women of California to organize for the purpose of making a fight for suffrage. The ground was well prepared and, when the legislature voted for the submission of the women's suffrage amendment to the state constitution, the organized women of this state were ready to begin the battle.

Fully realizing the importance of a thorough and energetic campaign the women of California sent out an appeal to the friends of women's suffrage throughout the United States and elsewhere. Nobly did their friends respond to the appeal. From all parts of the world came encouraging letters to the women of California, and the success of the women of California fighting for their rights. J. H. Brady of Pasadena, a retired business man of great wealth, organized under the name of the Political Equality League a powerful body of prominent men and women bound together by the common desire to aid the women's suffrage movement.

In every state of the union where there are friends of women's suffrage, meetings were held, resolutions passed, giving moral support to the battling suffragists in California and funds were contributed to help the women of this state in their great struggle. The women of New York, headed by Mrs. Laddow, willingly came to the assistance of their sisters on the Pacific coast. Mrs. Jeannette Rankin, sent by Mrs. Laddow; Mrs. Hester K. Hays-Groves; Mrs. Archibald C. Blair and other distinguished leaders and organizers of the women's suffrage movement in Greater New York, came to California to help by word and deed in the campaign. Large sums were raised during the week of self-denial, when men and women, anxious to help the women in California, denied themselves some luxuries and contributed the money thus saved to the campaign fund.

The energetic, businesslike and effective manner in which the women of this state have conducted their campaign has been a revelation to such men even who have made politics a business for many years and have grown gray in it. There was no uncertainty about the methods employed and everything was thoroughly up-to-date. The women throughout the state were thoroughly organized and everywhere meetings were held, speeches made and literature distributed. In many places house-to-house canvasses were made by special committees of women and all men favorable to the movement were enlisted in the campaign.

The opposition, which includes many distinguished and powerful men, like Gen. Harrison Gray Otis, former United States Senator Frank P. Flint, Oscar P. Lawlor, former assistant President Benjamin Wheeler of the University of California, and many others, has by no means been idle and is still carrying on its campaign in all parts of the state, countering the efforts of the suffragists with great shrewdness and ability. The outcome is still doubtful, but the women are confident of success.

GROSSCUP WITHDRAWS RESIGNATION TODAY

DECLARES TODAY HE WILL NOT SEND RESIGNATION TO TAFT ON OCTOBER 1.

AWAITS THE CHARGES

Will Force His Enemies to Make Open Fight for His Removal, According to His Statement Today.

[BY UNITED PRESS.] Chicago, Sept. 21.—Peter Grosscup, presiding judge of the United States district court of appeals, today withdrew his resignation and prepared to force his enemies to an open fight to remove him from the bench. "I will not send my resignation to President Taft on Oct. 1," he said. "Instead, I will await the so-called record of charges against me. I invite the widest investigation into my personal and private acts."

Resignation Was Surprise. Chicago, Ill.—The resignation of Judge Peter S. Grosscup from the United States circuit bench came as a complete surprise and the reasons assigned by him for this resignation were most unusual. Judge Grosscup has been for years one of the leading members of the bench and as such has handed down many important verdicts, including the one which reversed the decision of Judge Landis in the Standard Oil's $29,000,000 fine. In an interview Judge Grosscup has explained his position giving his ideas on many important subjects. "You ask me concerning the 'formal' period approaching; of my belief that the next presidential election will be the last one on the old lines, and how the world politically will catch up with the world's radically changed economic conditions, I will answer in detail.

SULPHUR FROM LAVA STREAMS OF ETNA

Problem Confronts the Treasury Department Regarding the Duty of This Sort of Product.

[BY UNITED PRESS.] Washington, September 21.—Sulphur refined by the heat of volcanoes is the latest problem confronting the customs officials of the Treasury Department. For years sulphur imported from Japan, because it was naturally refined by fire, was admitted free of duty. Recently the policy was changed and a tariff of $4 a ton was imposed. A letter was recently received calling attention of the department to the fact that sulphur produced by it, Elma, Sicily, came in free of duty, and suggesting that it should be subject to the same tariff rate as the Japanese product.

An answer was sent to the effect that as a stream of molten lava, deep and deadly hot, was flowing down the sides of it, Etna it seemed unduly able to send a special agent to that place at the present time. The writer of the letter was assured however, that when things cooled down an investigation would be made of Sicilian sulphur.

Washington, D. Wills have often proved a stumbling block to the novelist. One fragment case may be mentioned. A popular writer causes an old aristocrat to have his "last will and testament" witnessed by his butler and his housekeeper, yet he makes them both benefit under it. By so doing he rendered the will invalid. But the author did not know it.

N. W. STOCK YARDS ALMOST COMPLETE

Two New Sheds for Stock and Another for Scales Being Built Where Old Yards Were Burned.

Two commodious sheds for sheltering stock, another for the yard scales together with the yards and chutes in the Northwestern yards will soon be completed by Foreman Kordian and his force of carpenters. The carpenters have been at work there for a few weeks and when the work will be finished, within a few days, the accommodation which will be afforded there for the handling of stock will be first-class.

These improvements are made on the site of the old yards which were destroyed by fire a few years ago. The new yards occupy less space than were covered by the old ones as it has been considered unnecessary for the handling of local stock to use all the space available there for that purpose. The yards as now built will be found inadequate it will be easy to extend them, from the plans on which the present improvements have been made.

FORCE IS BEING INCREASED IN CAR REPAIR DEPARTMENT

Two new men, Walter Meyer and Paul Wolfgram, have been added to the force in charge of Foreman Whitebread in making repairs to the cars in the South Janesville yards. Eight or ten more are needed to handle the rush of work coming from the gravel trains and from the regular sources and this number is expected to be added to the present force within a few days. Instructions were received yesterday from the head office at Chicago to make this increase in order that most of the cars damaged in this section may be repaired here instead of being sent in to the shops at Chicago. Much of the recent increase in the work here is due to the breaking of cars at the gravel pit north of the city.

Mr. Kelly, general supervisor of locomotive boilers, was at the local shop this morning with a new man who is to take Mr. Kelly's place in the employ of the company as he expects to leave the company's service soon to engage in other business.

Machinist Frank Lawson and Boss Holmstrom, A. J. Clark returned yesterday from their trip to Clinton and Harvard where they were inspecting equipment.

Engineer Lewis is on the sick list and Engineer Yates is taking his place.

Engineer Cochran went out last night on the second section of No. 1.

The shop planer, which was sent to Chicago for repairs, a few weeks ago, was returned this morning and is now ready for use.

Boilermaker Ernest Williams quit the service this morning.

Eddie Sullivan, night clerk at the storehouse, was off duty last night.

The gasoline engine at the coal shed was out of commission today and is being repaired by Machinist Layson.

Station Agent A. L. Hennings returned from his vacation and was on duty at his regular post this morning.

Night Machinist Edward Barracough is off duty and is relieved by Machinist Hamilton.

Brakeman Marshall went out this morning on the way freight in place of Duffin, who has not yet reported for duty after returning from the Watertown fair.

Switchmen Gerry and Bradley are on duty on the night switch-engine.

ST. PAUL SHOPS TO HAVE ELECTRIC LIGHTS

Old Style Oil Lamps and Headlights Which Are Used in the Office Shops and Yards Will Be Replaced by Better Lights Soon.

Head Electrician Crowley of Milwaukee was at the local shops yesterday and made final plans for the installation of electric lights in the office, storehouse, shop and roundhouse. Supplies for wiring the plant have already been received and a large number of tungsten lamps are ready for use as soon as the wiring will be completed.

This will make a great change at the shops and yards as the improved lighting will be a decided improvement over the old style system of lighting that has been in use there up to the present. Oil lamps have been in use there for lighting the office and the shop and locomotive headlights mounted on posts in the yard furnished light in that part.

The company's workmen who are working at Burlington today are expected to return to this city tonight and to begin the work of wiring here tomorrow. Two and probably four men will be engaged in this work and it is expected that the new lights will be in use within the next week.

MANY FAIR VISITORS TAKE ELKHORN SPECIAL TODAY

More than 140 passengers took advantage of the special train to Elkhorn this morning. Considering the inclemency of the weather at that hour of the morning it is considered remarkable that so many local people ventured forth to attend the fair. Had the weather been more favorable it is believed that the number of visitors from here would be more than doubled. With those who went on later trains the total number from here was increased to about two hundred.

Engineer Falter and Fireman Shebert went out on 91 at 8:15 this morning.

Engineer Meyer and Fireman Kibbly took an extra west at 11:30 today.

Engineer Stevens and Fireman Steinberg, with engine 1624, took the special train of twelve coaches to Elkhorn this morning, leaving here at 7:20. Conductor Corbett was in charge of the train.

Engineer Dowle and Fireman McDougall went out at 11:35 with train 162 on the C. and M. division.

INJUNCTION BLOCKS CENTER AVE. WORK

The old grade for Center Avenue, under the proposed plans for improving the street, it would be lower in some places than at present, but the work to be done, would not entice the street to be lowered two or three feet as would be necessary to restore the old grade.

"It looks to me as if Mr. Burpee was a little late in starting this action. He was city attorney at the time the street was filled in and in my opinion he should have objected to it then. At least, if he had any complaint to make as to the grade, he should have made it before the new grade was established and cement sidewalks and curb and gutters put in."

The opinion of the mayor, it is said, is voiced by the other city officials who are mentioned in the action started. Some question has been raised as to what Mr. Burpee expects to gain from the injunction. The claim is made that during the time that Mr. Burpee acted as city attorney the street was filled in at the order of James McLeish, who was then alderman of the ward, without authorization from the common council. If at any time, action should have been taken, it was then, it is held.

NOTED AID OF CHINA DIES

Sir Robert Hart, Nation's Medley With Western World, Expires.

London, Sept. 21.—Sir Robert Hart, director general of customs in China from 1901 to 1908, and inspector general since 1883, is dead. He was born in Ireland February 20, 1835, but had been living in England since his retirement from the Chinese service on account of ill health.

He was the most potent link between China and the western world. He created its customs service; he gave China a comprehensive tariff, and was behind practically every commercial treaty that China made prior to 1908.

Sir Robert stamped out Chinese and Malay piracy. He established lighthouses and later a postal service.

WILSON SCORED BY SYNOD

Participation in Congress of Brewers Stirs Presbyterians.

Mason City, Ia., Sept. 21.—The Presbyterian synod in session here passed resolutions denouncing the administration in particular and Secretary James Wilson in general for participation in the congress of brewers.

They called upon Secretary Wilson immediately to get out of his dilemma. Secretary Wilson is a member of this Presbytery and his pastor, Dr. J. N. Curran of Tracer made an address supporting the resolution. For nearly an hour the business of the synod was taken up by addresses in support of the resolution and some were not tempered with mercy.

Tientsin, China, Sept. 21.—After seven days of severe fighting with the rebels, my dispatches from Tsochow, the Viceroy at Cheng-Tu still controls the situation. Missionaries and merchants from Cheng-Tu have reached Chung King.

One fact that is guaranteed to reduce the fuel bill a third over any other stove of the same size, is guaranteed to hold the record for economy, with the least maintenance, and the most uniform heat and light with soft coal, hard coal or lignite. ONE CENT POSTAGE CAMPAIGN STARTED

Active Steps Have Been Taken to Inaugurate One Cent Letter Postage Before Congress.

Active steps looking towards the inauguration of One Cent Letter postage are to be taken this coming winter by the United States Postoffice department. It is expected that such a reform will be the next one attempted by Postmaster General Hitchcock, and that it will meet with general commendation at the hands of Congress.

Many significant reforms have been inaugurated in the postoffice department during the past year, resulting in the wiping out of a huge deficit and the creating of a surplus. One of the far reaching importance is the shipping of magazines by freight instead of in mail cars. Beginning July 1st the new system was inaugurated and it is proving quite successful. It makes it necessary that the magazine and trade journals should go to press a few days earlier than formerly so that an extra day or two may be given to their distribution. It is expected, however, that millions in money will be saved this year through this reform alone and that, during the early months of this year and the early months of 1912, a much larger surplus will pile up than has ever before been shown in the entire history of the department.

With such a surplus available with which to meet expenses, it is planned to cut the existing rate on first class mail matter in two, charging one cent a piece instead of two cents. This means that every time a letter is mailed the cost will be cut exactly in half. To business men and others having postage accounts of considerable volume this will mean much.

It is claimed that a one cent rate can be inaugurated without difficulty by simply readjusting rates now in operation in the postoffice department and letting each class pay nearer the cost of its service. Full data concerning the situation is being sent out by the National One Cent Letter Postage Association from its headquarters, 201 Chamber of Commerce Building, Cleveland, O. The association is preparing to wage an active campaign at the winter session of Congress for the passage of the necessary legislation to bring about the required reform.

Postmaster General Hitchcock, who has wiped out a $17,000,000 deficit and created a large surplus solely by businesslike methods in the administration of his department, looks forward to the establishment of a One Cent rate for letters as the next important change in the department. This sentiment he gave expression to in New York recently when furnishing testimony before postal commission which is investigating the question of adjusting carrying charges for second-class mail.

In the conduct of our postal system certain fundamental principles of administration should be closely followed," Mr. Hitchcock said. "The operation of the service should be on a self-supporting basis, maintained by the imposition of such charges as will yield an income equal to expenditures. Such adjustment of postal charges will provide for each class of mail matter a rate equal to the cost of handling and carriage should be made. "At no time should the support of the postal establishment be left to the chances and uncertainties of general taxation. The present self-supporting condition of the service is made possible only because other classes of mail, particularly the first class, are charged excessively to make up for the loss caused by the inadequate charge on other matter."

Going into statistics, Mr. Hitchcock said that in 1910 8,310,163,623 pieces of first class mail matter were carried in the mails. The cost of handling and carriage, he said, was $86,792,511.35. The postal charge was $164,796,668.08, leaving a clear profit to the government of $68,004,156.73. In the year before 4,336,259,864 pieces of second class mail matter were carried. The cost of handling and carriage was $80,791,615.03, while the postage return was only $19,067,251.02.

TOURISTS ARE ON WAY FROM EUROPE

Great Passenger Steamers Are Taxed To Utmost Capacity in Bringing Home Tourists.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)
New York, Sept. 21.—The largest fleet of great passenger steamers the world has ever known, is being taxed to its utmost capacity to move the army of American tourists returning from Europe. All the beaten paths of tourists travel are pouring tens of thousands of travelers into the great European ports. The transportation of this army of travelers, quickly and safely across the broad Atlantic, which is looked upon as a matter of course, illustrates the wonderful perfection of modern sea travel. Without the slightest inconvenience, and with perfect safety, a population equal to that of a great city, is carried with absolute safety. A single line, the Hamburg-American has four great steamers westward bound—the "Huescher," "Cincinnati," "Kaiserin Augusta Victoria," and "President Grant," establishing almost a daily service this week between Europe and America.

Disease Is a Strangled Nerve Chiropractic Adjustments Release The Choked Nerve And Back Comes Health

Chiropractic offers remarkable opportunities for the benefit of suffering humanity. The scientific features of modernized Chiropractic have been developed until it is the most practical method of removing the cause of disease that man has evolved.

The Chiropractor adjusts the human machine so that the power is always on and ready for use. This power is the nerve force, or the life of the human machine, sent down from the brain to every tissue cell and organ of the body. In other words, a chiropractor puts the trolley on the wire and the current is on.

You can't have disease without first incoordination between the brain and the tissue cells. Incoordination is caused by some portion or portions of the spinal column pressing on the spinal cord or its branches the spinal nerves, shutting off the mental impulses which are transmitted from the brain to the organs or organs the impeded nerve supplies.

Have your spine examined. Examinations free. Write, call or phone for our free booklet, "The Cause of Disease and Its Removal."

Every Silo Owner Should Have One Of These Enclosed Steel Silage Carriers

For several years we have been experimenting with a carrier that would do away with some of the objections of the old style carrier, and also have some of the advantages of the pneumatic elevator. In the Enclosed Steel Carrier we have accomplished this. It is built of galvanized sheet steel and is practically indestructible. It can be operated in nearly a perpendicular position. All the cut feed passes up inside and in consequence cannot be blown out of the carrier. All the buckets are carried on a single heavy chain belt and there is no side strain, and the trouble of one chain stretching more than the other that has always caused so many vexatious delays in the old style carrier is entirely done away with. The carrier buckets all returning on the top of the carrier does away with the necessity of any return supports. This in conjunction with the fact that the carrier can be set nearly perpendicular allows the buckets coming down on the outside to nearly balance the ones going up in the inside so that only the weight of the cut ensilage has to be lifted. This makes the carrier very light running. It is driven direct from the knife head shaft by means of leather belting. The tightener pulley is controlled by a spring and in the event of the carrier getting caught in any way the belt will slip or the operator can easily and quickly release the tightener and stop the carrier before any damage is done.

The hopper at the base of the carrier is so arranged that all the ensilage drops directly into the carrier doing away entirely with the unsightly pile of ensilage usually found at the base of carriers.

We can furnish an attachment for the top of the carrier to deliver at an angle. This is not necessary however, when the carrier is placed in a direct line with the window of the silo. Can be furnished in any desired length.

teaches the subject was unable to go on account of his other classes and
Mr. Buell took his place as superintendent of the farmers. The Elkhorn

IRELAND IS TIED UP BY RAILROAD STRIKE

Strike Leaders Are Demanding General Walkout Which Would Involve England, Scotland and Wales.

Dublin, Sept. 21.—The tying up of three big railroads has resulted in paralyzing the industry and traffic of Ireland, and prices of food are still ascending rapidly.

Strike leaders are demanding a national walkout, which would involve England, Scotland and Wales as well as Ireland. The tieup in Ireland is more serious than was that resulting from the recent general strike. Shipping labor has not been affected, but it may be at any day.

The desperate state of affairs originated in an insignificant trade dispute among a few carters, laborers and other employees of the timber merchants in Dublin. A labor organizer, formerly an official of the English Union of Stock Laborers, and a leader in fierce labor disputes in Belfast and Cork in the last two or three years, invited the timber trade employees to co-operate. The timber merchants forbade the men to join this union. The men disregarded the wishes of their employers and were locked out.

The dispute attracted little attention until last Friday, when Great Southwestern Railway employees in Dublin struck because the company would not refuse to handle freight sent by the timber merchants. There was an immediate flare up. The staffs of the passenger trains left work Saturday and they were followed by the locomotive firemen, the signal men and the rest.

Why Whittall Rugs Rival the Oriental in Beauty and Wear

The yarns of which both Oriental and Whittall Rugs are made come from the same sources—Persia and the Himalayas. The designs of Whittall's rugs include many faithful copies of famous eastern rugs, the dyes used for Whittall's rugs are the equal and perhaps because scientifically made, the superiors of the Oriental.

Practically the only difference between the Whittall, Anglo Persian and the Oriental is the manner of weaving—Oriental rugs are made by human fingers with their proneness to err, while steel "fingers" in whose movements there can be no variation weave the Anglo Persians.

But there is a decided difference when it comes to price. The Whittall Rugs with all their beauty and durability cost but one-tenth of the price of the Oriental.

In Our Rug Department

we are showing many specimens of Whittall's Rugs. We give brief descriptions of four of the weaves, but only actual sight will give a fair idea of the wonderful designs and colorings.

Little Bed-Time Tales By EDITH HAVENS

The Dark.

ETHEL was terribly frightened. Her mother had just turned out the light and gone down stairs, and there she was alone in the dark. "Mother—mother," she shrieked in terror. "Oh—I'm frightened—I want the light—I want the light." Her mother did not answer and Ethel began to cry. She heard a noise somewhere in the room and she cried the louder. It was only a board in the floor creaking a bit—that was all. Gradually her sobbing became more quiet and finally it ceased altogether. "Flash—there came a blinding glare of light in the room and Ethel sat up in bed with a start for there before her she saw the most beautiful person she had ever seen. She wasn't the least bit afraid now. The little visitor was garbed in the shortest of tiny white gowns while on her head a tiny jeweled crown sparkled in the light of the room. Around her waist was a beautiful girdle of gold and white, and a beautiful shawl adorned her pretty golden slippers adorned her pretty golden slippers. Her eyes were the color of the May sky, and when she spoke her voice sounded like water rippling over the rocks.

"Who are you?" asked Ethel as she had gotten over her surprise.

"The pretty little visitor smiled. 'I am the fairy of the night,' she answered. 'I heard you crying this evening and thought I would come to tell you what a very foolish little girl you were.'

"But I was afraid of the dark," cried Ethel.

"You do not need to be," answered the fairy. "There is nothing to be afraid of."

"Listen here," she continued. "Never in your life did you hear of a little boy or girl getting hurt once they are in bed. I watch over them, you see, and never in the history of the great world has anything happened to them. Why do you know, bed is the very safest place of all for little boys and girls."

Somewhat Ethel felt ashamed. "If you ever begin to feel frightened again just remember that I am watching over you," continued the fairy. "Nothing can ever harm you."

With a goodnight she seemed to fly right out through the open window. Do you know Ethel was never afraid of going to bed in the dark after that?

And why should she be?

The methods of the club are novel. "The victim and romantic surroundings is made the

"But things continued to grow still bigger. Ways to accomplish them had to grow correspondingly. Hence the big corporation of today, the big monopolies, in fact, that are just as essential in their day of big things and can be made just as advantageous to the public as the smaller corporations were in the day of smaller things or the partnership in the day of still smaller things.

"Means to an end, each—in the day of smaller things, smaller means; in the day of bigger things, bigger means.

"These bigger means have brought with them their wrongs. One of these—the chief one in the foreground—is that even under the shadow of all the agitation against them, under the shadow of the Sherman act, under the shadow of court decrees 'dissolving' them, some of them have gone on reaping harvests from the people at large, that have made their participants, in a decade or two, the richest men in the world.

"And the other, and even deeper wrong in the long run, is that under the license given them by our corporate policies they have divided the property of this country, or professedly equal opportunity, into two classes—ordinary property, or that which people at large can safely seek, and corporate property, or that which only the corporate class can venture into.

"One would think that the object of political parties would be to remedy these specific wrongs—to conserve what was helpful in united economic effort while remedying what was injurious.

"Not so, however. Neither party is training its guns upon the specific wrongs.

"Largely for political effect both of the existing parties are still for the old little ways instead of continuing what is helpful in big new ways, eliminating the wrongs that have crept in. But that will and when the real scientific alignment comes. And that is what I mean by saying that in my judgment the coming presidential election will be the last one on the old lines.

"How is the world politically to catch up with the world's radically changed economic conditions?

"By accepting these conditions; by squaring the laws to the fact.

"Success in enterprise depends on giving the men whose thought is behind the enterprise room to work out their thought. Give them that room. It not only helps them—it helps everybody.

"These men, however, are not entitled to harvest out of it all the profit that concentration puts into their hands. They could not do that without the aid of the right to incorporate.

And the right to incorporate is not theirs by natural right, but by corporate charters given them by government.

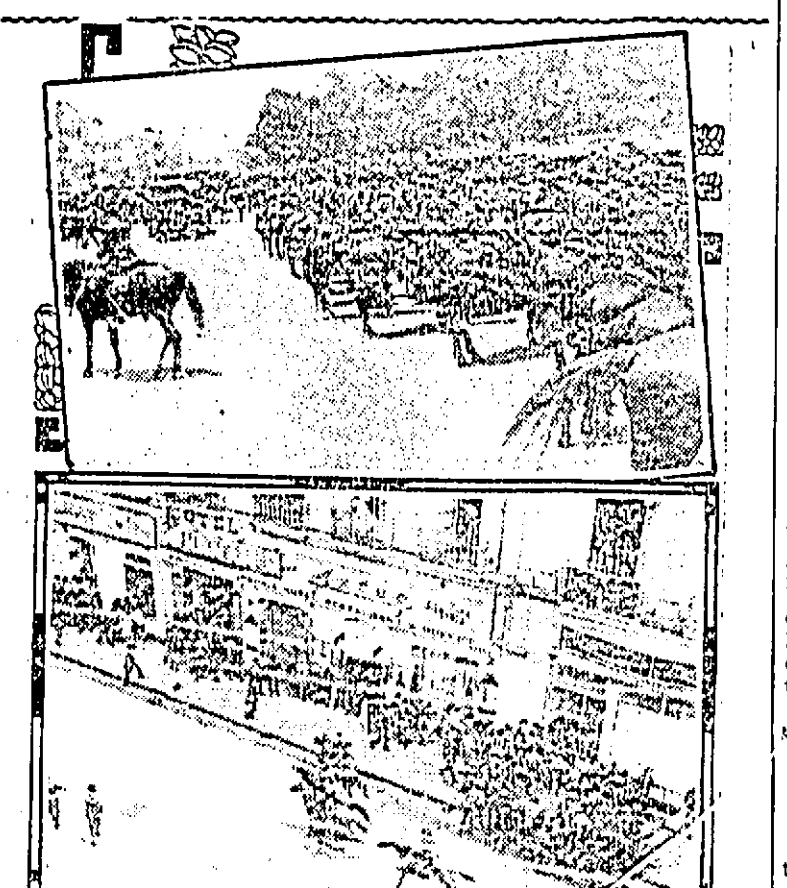

"Limit them, then, to a fair return that they can take out when, through this government giving them right to incorporate, they have thrown out competition. In other words put no obstruction in the way of what men may do for mankind industrially, but put a limit on what they may take out as their individual share when what they do is done through the instruments put in their hands by corporate charter.

"I have not time now to go into details more thoroughly. I stated them at some length in my University of Iowa speech last summer.

"My beliefs are not impossible nor fantastic except to those who do not wish them to be worked out—to the politician who does not wish to lose the corporation as a bugaboo in politics and to the greedy money getter who is willing it shall remain that bugaboo as long as nothing else happens to it."

HARVESTER COMPANY SENDS PLAN TO GOVERNMENT

Big Combine Willing to Reorganize and Submit Methods to United States—Details Withheld.

Washington, Sept. 21.—The International Harvester company has submitted a plan to the department of justice for the reorganization of that company under the recent interpretation of the Sherman anti-trust act without the necessity of a court decree. This plan is now at the department and is awaiting the return to this city of James A. Fowler, assistant to the attorney general.

Just what the company proposes cannot be learned, but the fact that it is willing to meet the demands of the president and the attorney general without an appeal to the courts is authoritatively stated.

It is further stated, however, that any agreement which may be reached by the Harvester people and the department of justice will be effected by a decree of a federal court. In other words, the department will sanction only a reorganization which has the approval of the judiciary and has the guarantee of execution such a decree would carry.

From the information available at the department it seems a sweeping reorganization of the Harvester company must be made effective before the government will agree to abandon its prosecution. The anti-trust law, as interpreted by the Supreme court in the Standard Oil and Tobacco cases must be complied with to the letter.

Pitchfork Buried in a Tree. An old-fashioned hand-made pitchfork was found imbedded in a tree trunk on the old Colver farm near Little Blue creek by Daniel Uptogrove the other day. The fork probably had been stuck in the tree half a century before. The tree had grown around it until it covered all except one tine.

Police men all over the world use TIZ. Police men stand on their feet all day and know what sore, tender, swollen feet really mean. They use TIZ because TIZ cures their feet right up. It keeps feet in perfect condition. Read what this policeman has to say: "I WAS KILPATRICK, CHANDLER DELIGHTED WITH TIZ FOR SUFFERED FEET. I DON'T KNOW HOW TO THANK YOU ENOUGH FOR IT. IT'S SUPERIOR TO POWDER OR PLASTER. I CAN KEEP MY FEET IN PERFECT CONDITION. BELIEVE IN MY EARNEST GRATITUDE FOR TIZ. I AM A POLICEMAN AND KEEP ON MY FEET ALL DAY."—JIMMY HARRILL, AUSTIN, TEXAS.

You never tried anything like TIZ before for your feet. It is different from anything ever before sold.

INDUSTRIALS WEAK ON NERVOUS MARKET

[BY UNITED PRESS.]
New York, Sept. 21.—Industrials were weak at the opening of the stock market today. Steel common fell to 92 1/2, and the preferred dropped over 5 points. The railroad list was steady for a time but was soon influenced by the weakness in steel. At the end of 15 minutes the tone was feverish and unsettled.

MANY CANTALOUPE OFFERED ON MARKET

Local Dealers Have Had Good Supply of Home Grown Variety Which Still Floods Market.

There has been an unusually good supply of cantaloupes of the luscious home grown variety this year, and the markets are still well stocked with them. On the streets also there have been numerous vendors of this attractive fruit of the vine, and the prices have been much lower than in previous years. Fine large specimens are retailed at ten cents and smaller sized ones are dispensed at five cents apiece. There is still a large supply of cantaloupes and they will doubtless be in good demand as long as they are offered.

Fruits of all kinds have been very plentiful this fall. The excellent quality and extreme cheapness of the Concord grapes has been a matter for remark by dealers and themselves alike, and peaches and pears have also been offered for better and cheaper than usual. This has been a welcome condition of affairs for the enterprising housewife who has been hampered only as to the price of sugar which has climbed with a greater persistency this year than in previous seasons. LATE ILLNESS OF POPE DID NOT AROUSE ROME

Rome, Sept. 21.—Although the serious illness of the Pope, which now, however, seems fully to have passed, aroused all the keen interest which a prospective change in the head of the Catholic church always does, it was in Rome, yet this interest in the present instance differed very materially from that which, for centuries past, has always been created on such occasions.

Heretofore the death of a Pope has involved a goodly amount of personal and almost of financial interest to a great portion of the population of Rome. This is explained by the fact that for generations it has been customary for every new Pope to carry into his household a large number of relatives whom he supplied with lucrative positions, and also to find posts for many followers and supporters who gave their assistance to his candidacy.

Providence, R. I., Sept. 21.—"The Outlook in Providence," probably the most elaborate and comprehensive missionary exposition ever held in this country, was opened in Infantry Hall today, to continue until October 7. GYPSY BARONS ARE ON WAY TO AMERICA

Reported That Fifty of Wandering Gypsies Typical of Those Depicted in Song and Story Will Be Here Soon.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Washington, Sept. 21.—Fifty gypsy barons, typical of the kind portrayed in song and story for centuries, are on their way to America, and will reach this country some time this winter, according to advices received at the Austro-Hungarian embassy here. Such a band of "barons" of the wandering nation, never has been seen in this country. On one or two occasions half a dozen representatives of the most famous of the Hungarian tribes have paid a visit to America, but this was done more for mercenary reasons than for anything else. The half hundred gypsies now en route for this country are to come here merely because it is a place which happens to be in the path of their wanderings. They do not anticipate going on the stage, or signing any contracts, regardless of inducements, with any moving picture companies. They are gypsies of the truest type, and will not work for two reasons: one, because they do not like to work, even on a stage for a thousand dollars a night; two, because they do not have to work, being real gypsy barons from that part of the Austro-Hungarian empire where the barons really dominate.

Fifteen years ago the band left Gdela on a wandering trip which is to take them over every country and every sea. The barons are taking their own time. According to a report received at the Austrian legation from the consulate of the empire in England, the band will sail for America just as soon as passports can be secured for them.

The tribe will spend several months in the United States, Canada, and Mexico. After touring the latter republics, they will make a quick trip to South America, where a longer time will be spent.

BRODHEAD.

Brodhead, Sept. 21.—Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Crandall and daughter, Miss Fern Crandall, are visiting friends at their old home and attending a home coming.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Murrey went Wednesday to Elgin, Ill., where they spent some days with Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Harvey, Mrs. Harvey being their daughter.

James Murrey has accepted a position as brakeman, having a run between Janesville and Mineral Point.

Miss Sarah Wooster and Mrs. G. C. Wootter went to Deloit Wednesday for a few days stay with friends.

Deck Hooker is clerking for the Terry-Amersbach Department Company. Willis Osborn returned Wednesday from a trip to Boston and other eastern cities.

The ladies of the M. E. church will hold a basket social on Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock in Broughton's Opera House. Baskets of lunch are to be brought by the ladies and all will be sold at auction by P. T. Moore.

Roger Skinner has returned to Madison to arrange for attending the U. W. again the next year. Brodhead friends will be pleased to learn that Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Doolittle of Sauk Centre, Minnesota, are the proud parents of a son, born on Saturday, September 16, 1911.

Little Bed-Time Tales By EDITH HAVENS

Luna

ONCE upon a time—even before there were any little boys or girls on this earth—there lived in the moon a pretty maid by the name of Luna. During the day she slept in a pretty golden bed, but at night, after her father, the Man-in-the-Moon, had lit the great moon lamps, she would sit close by and watch to see that the winds did not blow them out.

Luna loved her father and she loved the great shining lamps which sent their beams of golden light across the sky like quivering paths of fire. But some nights she got very lonely. She yearned for a playmate—some little boy playmate, with whom she could talk and with whom she could play on rainy nights when the lamps didn't have to be lit.

The more she thought about it the more she yearned for this little dreamed-of companion, and one night, unable to stand it longer, she planned a journey—a journey to the far away earth in search of a playmate. "She would wait until the next rainy night," she thought, and then she would just float away from the moon—off, off to somewhere and this wonderful little boy she was sure to find.

Quite suddenly she seemed to grow very happy, and all that night she sang a pretty little song to the lamps. The next night was a beautiful one, and she watched the lamps as usual, but on the third a heavy mist was sweeping across the sky.

Luna was so excited she could hardly talk and the one thing that worried her most was that her father might discover her plans. But fortune favored the little girl, and before long her father discovered her plans. But fortune favored the little girl, and before long her father

discovered her plans. But fortune favored the little girl, and before long her father

Perhaps he would be sleeping beside some swift-flowing brook. Perhaps he might be playing a pretty song on his reed to the leaves of the forest, or perhaps he was already expecting her and stood deep within the wood awaiting her coming.

On and on she walked. The cruel briars scratched her arms and the rocks hurt her feet, but she kept on. Once she stopped to listen to the pretty song of a brook as it rippled along over the stones. Never had she heard such a wonderful song. Again she gladly, she stopped again. "Surely he will hear me here," she said, half aloud. She looked to the right and left, then ahead, and turning, gazed long behind her. Not a sign of life could she see. Then raising her arms as if to greet someone, she called softly, "Little boy, little boy." There was no answer. Only her own echo came back to her.

"Little boy, little boy," she called again, but no answer came. All night long she called, and all night long she strained her ears to catch an answering cry, but it came not, and her little heart was sad.

All the way back to the moon she cried most bitterly. Alas she was never to have a playmate. Some night if you closely study the right hand corner of the great moon as it shines brightly in the sky, you will notice a sad faced little maid gazing down wistfully towards the earth. It is Luna, the little maid of the moon.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON.

LIVES there a person in the land over twenty-one years of age who has not, at some period of his life, sent some product of his fertile brain to the magazines and newspapers?

Truly, judging by the number of people who write to ask me about the rules of this game, I doubt it.

"What class of work do editors want the most?"

"How should the manuscripts be arranged?"

"What are the best magazines to send work to?"

"What is the remuneration?"

"Do you have to have a story copyrighted before you send it?"

"When do magazines pay for work—on acceptance or publication?"

These are some of the most common of the forty-seven questions that the rising crop of would-be authors ask me, and since there seems to be such a general interest in the subject, I am going to answer them to the best of my ability in my space today, instead of replying to each query personally.

The largest literary demand of the present day, I am told, is for clever short stories of from 1,000 to 5,000 words, especially love stories. Interesting articles on any topic of timely interest come next in suitability. Poetry, especially by unknown authors, is extremely difficult—almost impossible to sell. Some magazines actually have their poetry supplied gratis by people who consider the joy of seeing it actually printed, sufficient remuneration.

The conventional methods of arranging manuscript is something everyone who is trying to "break into" this game ought to understand. In the first place, have your work typewritten if you possibly can. That makes it that much the clearer, and anything which is clear and doesn't have to be puzzled over, is much more apt to be appreciated and accepted. If you can't have your work typewritten, write it as legibly as possible. Never write on both sides of the paper. If written, have the lines wide apart; if typewritten, use double spacing.

Write the title on the middle of the first page a few inches from the top. Above it in the right hand corner, your full name and address—in the left hand corner, it is well to put the number of words. If you want the manuscript returned, enclose stamps. If you write a letter to the editor, make it very short, simply stating that you offer the enclosed manuscript to him and that if it is not accepted you would like it returned.

Write on small sheets of paper. Never roll your manuscript, but fold the sheets once or lay flat on cardboard and send in a large envelope.

As to what are the best magazines to which to send your work, I cannot be definite as circumstances alter cases. That depends wholly on the style of your work. Read all the magazines you can get hold of and try to decide which style your own work approximates the most closely.

Some people send their stories to story brokers, who, understanding the demands of the various magazines, try to dispose of the work for them, and also criticize it.

Remuneration is a subject on which volumes could be written. Rudyard Kipling, they say, gets a dollar a word. Some small magazines and city newspapers pay three or four dollars a thousand words, and country papers sometimes pay a dollar or two for the same amount. Somewhere, between these two extremes, is the remuneration for the rest of us. Fifteen or twenty dollars a thousand words is a reasonable price for a story by an unknown author, while writers of reputation, such as Ellen Hallowell Abbott, get $500 or $1,000 for a story of ordinary length.

As to the time of pay—a few magazines pay on acceptance, many more when the article is published. Incidentally, you must remember that most magazines are made up a year ahead, and the story accepted today may not appear for a year or two. Other magazines have stated times, such as once a month or once a quarter when they settle all their literary bills.

There, I hope these few suggestions will smooth the path to fame and fortune of many rising authors and authoresses.

THE WHOLESOME TOMATO.

The tomato is such an appetizing fruit vegetable, if one could call it so, also it has the reputation of being a good tonic for the liver. When one finds the skin producing brown liver spots, it is time to give the sluggish liver a jog. Tomatoes may be put up and served in such a variety of ways that a housewife who has a few dozen cans is independent. She may have soup, pickles, catsup, preserves, to say nothing of the numbers of dishes to be made in combination with other vegetables.

A small family, if fond of the vegetable, will consume sixty quarts and then not have enough. Fill all your empty jars with the tomatoes, using only a little salt, and when thoroughly sealed seal in well sterilized cans. They keep as fresh as the day they are put up if the rubbers are new and the cans screwed tight.

One good housewife makes catsup as she needs it by adding the spices and pepper to canned tomatoes.

For preserving tomatoes the small yellow one is the most satisfactory, adding lemon in slices, removing the seeds. Weigh the fruit and add to a pound of the tomatoes three-quarters of a pound of sugar, cooking slowly until the tomatoes look transparent.

One cause for failure in canning tomatoes is that often they are over-ripe. Perfectly sound, well ripened tomatoes if put up in air tight jars will keep for several years.

A dozen well-cared for tomato plants will produce enough fruit to supply the table and have some to put up, besides having plenty of green ones for pickling and chow-chow after the frost comes.

The following is a very excellent chili sauce recipe:

Peel and chop twenty-four large ripe tomatoes; chop six green peppers and four onions. Put into a kettle with three tablespoons of salt, eight tablespoons of brown sugar and a cup of vinegar; cook slowly one hour. Then put into bottles and seal.

CURIOUS BITS OF HISTORY

AMERICA'S FIRST NEWSPAPER.

By A. W. MACY.

The first newspaper in America was issued in Boston on September 25, 1689. It was "printed by R. Pierce for Benjamin Harris." In the first issue the publisher promised that the paper "shall be furnished once a month (or if a Glut of Occurrences happen, oftener) with an account of such considerable things as have occurred unto our notice; to give a faithful relation of all such things, and to enlighten the public as to the occurrences of Divine Providence." It gave a summary of the important news of the time, and was quite readable if not exactly spicy. To us it would appear a very harmless sheet; but the authorities of that day were rigid in their censorship of the press, and after a few issues Mr. Harris' paper was suppressed because "it came out contrary to law, and contained reflections of a very high nature."

Small Millions of Years Old.

A petrified prehistoric snail embedded in the heart of a large piece of blue limestone, was discovered a few days ago by quarrymen working at Cheddar Cliff, Wales, upon some large boulders of stone which were displaced in the landslide which occurred some years ago. The discovery is distinctly interesting to the geologists on account of the great age of the find, and situated upon a very low strata, it must be millions of years since the snail lived.

Thought for Today

By MRS. ROBERT M. LAFOLLETTE.

KINDERGARTEN.

MOTHER, do not send the baby to kindergarten," said a fifteen year old boy at his little brother's. "I cannot remember when I did not have to go to school," he added contentedly and gratefully.

Little children who have playmates, a yard big enough for a sandbox, a swing, a wheelbarrow, and a dog, are better off at home than in kindergarten. Unfortunately many children have not this chance to grow at home and perhaps flourish better in kindergarten. If, however, they are fagged, made nervous and excited by it, do not assume that just because it is kindergarten it is good for them.

We owe much to the kindergarten. In teaching the value of sentiment, in developing the artistic sense, the creative faculty and power of expression, it has given strong impetus to general educational reform. But there should be reform of the kindergarten also.

The essence of Froebel's teaching was that education should be development along natural lines; schools were out of doors, children had flower beds, spontaneous play, healthy bodily activity, and abundance of leisure.

Today great numbers of children live in cities under conditions of continuous nervous strain and overstimulation. Kindergarten should be in the country where children can observe and learn of nature, play and work and dream with the mother of us all.

Next to this is the supervised playground where they are allowed wide range to run and roll and climb and swing, which all too soon must be straitened with reading and cramped with writing. If they must be confined in buildings, the rooms should be fitted up for free play and gymnasium features which will encourage the largest activity, rather than for formal routine training.

STORIES OF EX-KING AND GABY DESLYS MOSTLY PRESS PUBLICITY.

Gaby Deslys as she arrived in New York.

New York City.—Much has been said of Gaby Deslys the vaudeville actress, who according to much heralded report was in some way intimately to blame for the downfall of King Manuel of Portugal. Very little has been said of her credit, though since her arrival in this port people are beginning to realize that not all that has been formerly said is based on fact. It is now generally believed that the major part of the incident of her notorious affair with King Manuel of Portugal was purely press work conceived by a clever press agent. Gaby herself said she would "die laughing" should King Manuel make her American debut. Manuel proposed and she shows how seriously she takes the affair which has been discussed over the entire world. It is known that while visiting England King Manuel applauded one of her acts so tremendously that much attention was drawn to his box. The press agent taking this as his cue, immediately circulated the report and brought about an introduction of the actress and the ex-king. On the strength of this meeting Gaby immediately toured Portugal and added to her net worth from her nine months vaudeville tour in America.

Not Always.

It is not always safe to decide that a man has passed the age of usefulness merely because his 15-year-old son can beat him at golf.

EXTREME RAW FOOD ADVOCATES DISCREDITED.

I have shown in articles on bread why cereal starch requires cooking to be digestible. Fruits may also be benefited by cooking in one respect, while injured in others; fruit ferments easily, and a single fermented prune, for instance, will cause the fermentation of an entire meal, seriously interfering with digestion, whereas, if the prunes had been cooked, fermentation would have been arrested. This applies also to meat, especially pork, containing disease germs. Advocates of the uncooked or natural food, have insistently maintained that raw food cures disease, increases happiness and lengthens life. To this they make no qualification, and therefore they have been largely discredited. Nobody would eat raw pork, raw beans or raw potatoes—starch and germs are better boiled.

HEART AND HOME TALKS

By BARBARA BOYD

The Value of Avoiding Friction.

AN editorial writer in one of the country's leading newspapers says: "It is becoming universally recognized that friction, ugliness and annoyance in travel and hotel entertainment, as elsewhere, are as unnecessary as they are useless, and that those who go forth on journeys or visits, long or short, are entitled to enjoy the sunnier, fairer, happier side of things."

But not only in travel is friction being eliminated, but as far as possible, in the business world generally. Its true nature as waste of power is being recognized; and in the business world where the question of profit is to the fore, anything in the nature of waste must be eliminated. It is even going further than this, and reaching out into the great world movement for peace. For war is but friction on a gigantic scale, and the nations are beginning to realize its waste and uselessness from an economic point of view, even did no greater questions enter into it.

But the uselessness of friction can be carried into even higher realms—that of the mind. Mental friction should be avoided just as carefully as the more material forms of it. Indeed, the waste here is greater, for mental energy is a finer, more valuable stuff than physical energy. Therefore, we should all take steps to eliminate mental friction as much as possible.

In the home, the impulse to say the cross or unkind word should be checked. Scolding or quarreling or nagging produces friction. It stirs up irritation. It produces unpleasant thoughts. The harmony of the home is disturbed. All this causes a loss of power. Energy goes forth in the form of vexation, and in words and deeds that amount to nothing, and that could have been turned to better purpose.

There are many little thoughtful deeds that can be performed about the home that help prevent friction. They may not be absolutely necessary in one sense of the word, but they are the little things that make the good measure, pressed down and running over, of the home's happiness. There may be little things which if not done stir the master of the house to wrath, or tax the mother so much that she gets into a state of weariness that means complaining. All this is friction, and it should be avoided by performing these little actions that smooth the fret away.

In business, too, it is just as helpful to keep the mental atmosphere free of friction. The wise business girl will avoid disagreements with her fellow workers. She will do all she can to keep things running smoothly, instead of producing jars and discords.

For it is all waste. And in this age, we cannot afford to waste. And there is a still higher thought in it. For by eliminating friction, we are making place for peace. And peace and happiness are closely allied. So, though avoiding friction has an economic value, it has also a higher purpose. And though we may follow it at first purely from an utilitarian motive, we will ere long grasp its higher significance, and enjoy its finer fruits.

Kindness.

It is kindness that makes life's capabilities blossom and paints them with their cheering hues and endows them with their invigorating fragrance. Whether it waits on its superiors, or ministers to its inferiors, or disports itself with its equals, its work is marked with a prodigality which the strictest discretion cannot blame.

A Hare's Daily Sea Bath.

A hare which had made a daily practice of swimming in the sea at Cley, to the delight of visitors, has been captured by some local fishermen in a boat. They chased the animal seaward for 300 yards, before they came up with it. The hare was then exhausted and was easily captured.—London Daily Mail.
